Share Your Computer Screen or View Someone Else's Easily, Safely, and for FREE!

Join.me is a fast and easy way to share your screen with others. Do you have an idea you'd like to share with friends or colleagues? With Join.me you get a 9-digit PIN that you give to them so they can view your screen. You can share your screen with up to 250 different viewers at the same time if you want.

Not only does this program allow screen-sharing, but you can also hand over control to someone else. If you need a little help with something on your computer and have a friend or family member you trust who can help out remotely, this program will allow them to do so easily.

Or if you want the ability to work from home without having to transfer files back and forth between computers, Join.me provides a way to easily do so without wasting time and money. You can use your code to connect to your computer from home and work as if you are sitting at your desk in the office.

Here at iMoneyCoach we have used LogMeIn, the parent company of Join.me, for several years. This company continues to grow and provides reliable service and fantastic options. We are happy to share this recommendation with you based on our years of good results with LogMeIn and more recent use of Join.me.

If you have a program or application that has saved you time and money and that you have enjoyed using, feel free to let us know so we can share it with others.
