A New Rewards Program To Help You Pay Off Debt & Save Up

iMoneyCoach has recently come across a new rewards program called SaveUp that we want to share with you. What makes this program different is that it does not promote consumer spending and racking up debt in order to get rewards. Instead you get points when you pay down debt or put money into savings.

From the SaveUp site: SaveUp is like icing on the proverbial cake – users will participate because of the rewards – that's the icing; but saving money, paying down debt, becoming smarter about your finances and positively changing behaviors – that's the cake.

We still believe you need to use a budget and track your spending, but it is nice to be able to get some added rewards along the way. With SaveUp you can safely link bank accounts (they have several levels of security and verification and do not store any IDs, passwords, or account numbers) to keep track of when you add to your savings or pay down debt on auto, student, and home loans. You get points for any of these activities that you can then use to try and win a variety of prizes in daily, weekly, or monthly drawings.

Not only can you win cool prizes and gift cards, but there are prizes to help you pay down your debt or win a child savings account. It's FREE and it's a fun way to get prizes for saving up and reducing debt.

We hope the iMoneyMinute is useful to you. If you have a different email address you would like us to use, or if you would prefer to no longer receive the iMoneyMinute emails, please email us at coach@imoneycoach.com.
