How to Access Documents Across Your Computer and Mobile Devices Safely

As more devices enter our lives, keeping track of our information and documents across all of them becomes more important. At iMoneyCoach we have researched some options to help you access your documents between your computers and mobile devices.

Here is a comparison of some of the best file-accessing programs we found:

Program	Works on	FREE Amount of Storage	Price for 100GB Storage	Other Pros	Cons
Dropbox	PC, Max, iOS (iPhone/iPad/iPod), Android, only one to work on Blackberry	2GB - could get up to 18GB FREE storage with referrals	$9.99/mo	Only uploads parts of the file that have changed so upload is faster	Uses third party servers to store files - if server goes down, you can't sync
Google Drive	PC, Max, mobile devices	5GB	$4.99/mo	Can set folders to sync manually or automatically	Editing docs like Excel is not in the same format, so you could lose parts of your file's functionality
Skydrive	PC, Mac, iOS, Android, Windows Phone	7GB	$4.16/mo	Has Microsoft Office Web

				apps so you can edit Office files online without changing their format,
Tonido	Mac, PC, iOS, Windows Phone 7, Android	2GB	$3.25/mo	Unlimited remote access, can sync directly without using 3rd party servers	To sync files directly, your computer must be on and connected to the Internet
Cubby	Mac, PC, apps for Android and iOS,	5GB - can go to 25GB with referrals	$6.99/mo for Pro Version	can share files and folders securely with friends and colleagues, and when you choose a file to sync you do not have to move it on your computer - keeps the same file structure	syncs have been known to take a long time

We recently sent an email about the dangers of Cloud storage. Unfortunately your files that are stored on a cloud could be lost or stolen, or they may also be obtained by government officials without a warrant because the third party hosting your files determines how private they consider your files to be and can turn them over at any time without your consent. Tonido and Cubby allow you a little more privacy but may not offer all of the same features as Dropbox or even Google Drive or Skydrive, although you may decide that these other programs have what you need without forcing you to rely on the Cloud for access to your files.
